

Online Consent for Participation in Research

This study is part of a research study conducted by Dr. Henny Admoni at Carnegie Mellon University and is funded by NSF and the Sony Corporation.

The purpose of the research is to evaluate and compare different collaborative behaviors for robots.

Procedures

You will be asked to view images or videos of a robot and answer questions regarding them. This study may take up to 20 minutes.

Participant Requirements

You must be between the ages of 18 and 70.

Risks

The risks and discomfort associated with participation in this study are no greater than those ordinarily encountered in daily life.

Benefits

There may be no personal benefit from your participation in the study but the knowledge received may be of value to Robotics research at Carnegie Mellon University.

Compensation & Costs

You will be compensated at a competitive Amazon Mechanical Turk rate.

There will be no cost to you if you participate in this study.

Confidentiality

The data captured for the research does not include any personally identifiable information about you. Your IP address will not be captured. Study sponsors may have access to research records.

Right to Ask Questions & Contact Information

If you have any questions about this study, you should feel free to ask them by contacting the Principal Investigator now at the address below. If you have questions later, desire additional information, or wish to withdraw your participation please contact the Principal Investigator.

Dr. Henny Admoni
The Robotics Institute
Carnegie Mellon University
5000 Forbes Avenue
Pittsburgh, PA, 15213
Email: henny@cmu.edu
(412) 268-7939

If you have questions pertaining to your rights as a research participant; or to report concerns to this study, you should contact the Office of Research integrity and Compliance at Carnegie Mellon University. Email: irb-review@andrew.cmu.edu . Phone: 412-268-1901 or 412-268-5460.

Voluntary Participation